Baby Led Weaning

Aileen Cox Blundell is the number one bestselling author of The Baby Led Feeding Cookbook and brand ambassador for Dunnes Stores.

As your baby reaches that six month mark you will probably find yourself researching all the different ways you will start to introduce solid food. You have the choice of the traditional methods, pureeing vegetables, fruits and meats then spoon feeding your baby. Or, you might have come across baby led weaning. Whatever you decide, this is one of the most exciting milestones in your baby's development and you are going to have so much fun together.

The baby led weaning method is what my recipes are focused around. It basically means, that the entire family eat the same food. No blending (unless you are making hummus of course), no spoon feeding. Just little hands taking control of the food, all on their own.

Baby led weaning is so much fun, so take a deep breath, grab your camera for those messy face photos and get ready to turn your baby into a little foodie!

Aileen xoxo

Top 10 Tips to start Baby Led Feeding

1 EASE

yourself into Baby Led Feeding by starting with really soft foods cut into spears, roasted spears of sweet potato, avocado, soft pears & banana. Your baby will show you their capabilities really quickly.

3 THINK IN THICK CHIP SIZES

Cut vegetables and fruits into the size of chips to make them the ideal size for little baby hands to manage. At the beginning they won't have developed their pincher grasp so won't be capable of picking up small things like blueberries for example which can leave them feeling frustrated.

5 FORGET THE BOWL

Most high chairs today, have a tray so just use that at the start. It can be removed afterwards and washed in the sink.

7 TOO MUCH CHOICE

Little portions of food work better than overloading your baby's plate. If your baby still seems hungry you can offer more.

9 DON'T WAIT FOR THEM TO GET 'HANGRY'

When your baby has reached the 'I'm REALLY hungry and I want my food now' phase they get easily frustrated. So, space out the milk feeds and the solid food feeds so that meal time is enjoyable - for both of you.

2 Mammy & Daddy know best

Trust your instincts, If it doesn't feel right, then just don't do it. All foods should be soft enough to squish between your thumb and index finger, if they can't, then don't give it to your baby!

4 INVEST IN A LONG SLEEVED BIB

A good long sleeved, wipeable bib is a must. It protects your babies clothing and if it has a catch all pocket then you won't have to search for the dropped food.

6 A WIPEABLE TABLE CLOTH WILL SAVE YOUR SANITY

Cut a wipeable tablecloth into quarters then place one piece under your babies high chair. Keep the cloth clean so when food falls onto it you can pick it up and give it back to them.

8 CHILL OUT

It is important not to rush your baby when they are eating or help them by putting food in their mouths. Instinctively, babies eat the way we would all probably like to eat, slowly and carefully so trust them.

10 HAVE FUN!

This is sometimes easier said than done, but trust me on this one. Take a really deep breath, let your baby work away because it flies by, and before you know it you will have a pro-Baby Led Feeder on your hands and the mess of spaghetti in their hair will be just a distant memory.

Spinach, Goat Cheese & Thyme Mini-Muffins

These are my number one recipe for starting baby led weaning. They are perfectly soft, packed full of goodness and just the right size for little hands.

20 MINS

FREEZE ME

6 MONTHS+

Ingredients

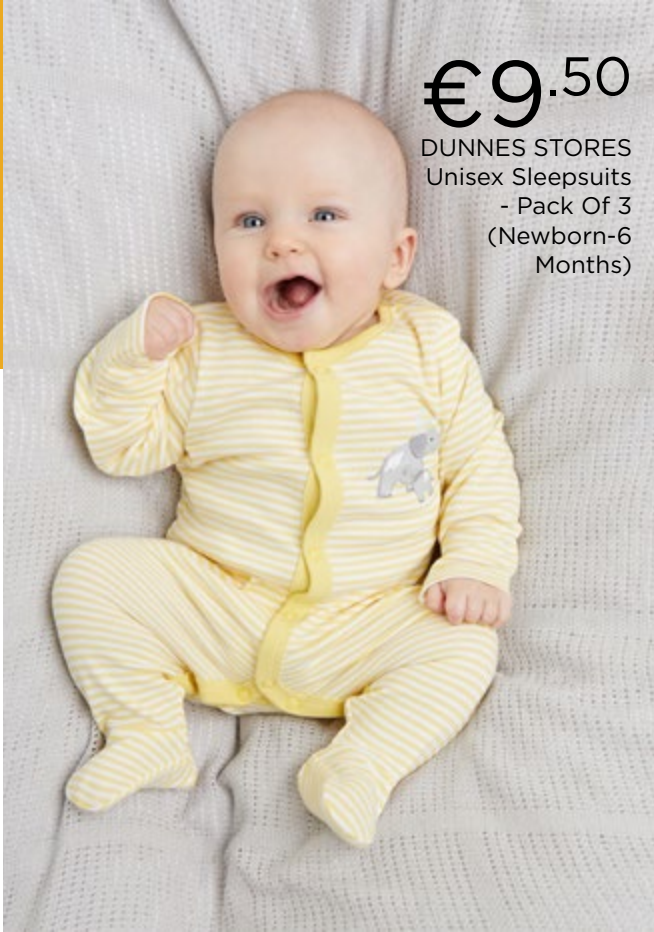

- 1 Garlic Clove
- 2 large handfuls Spinach Leaves – Finely Chopped
- 140g Plain Flour
- 1 tsp Baking Powder
- 1 Egg
- 125ml Milk
- 60ml Rapeseed Oil
- 100g Goat Cheese
- 4 Sprigs Thyme

Method

1. Preheat oven to 190°C
2. Heat a tablespoon of oil and gently fry the garlic for about 5 minutes until soft but not brown.
3. Add the finely chopped baby leaf spinach to the pan and cook until slightly wilted. This will only take about 2-3 minutes and will keep all the flavour and nutrients in the leaves. Set aside to cool.
4. Sieve the flour and baking powder into a bowl.
5. In a separate jug add the egg, milk and rapeseed / olive oil and whisk to fully combine.
6. Slowly pour this wet mixture into your flour and baking powder whisking until fully combined. Take your time to avoid the mixture forming lumps.
7. Flake in the goat cheese and thyme and then add the spinach and garlic folding gently into your batter.
8. Pour into a greased mini muffin tin and bake for 25mins or until golden brown. Cool on a baking tray before serving
